Domingo A. Arias Munoz

MAY 20, 1940 - SEP 2, 2021

Born 1940 Year of Passing 2021

Miami, Florida - Domingo Alfredo Arias Munoz passed away Sept. 2, 2021.

He was born in Chile and immigrated to the United States in 1977.

While in Chile he pursued a career in Academia and was dedicated to fighting for social justice issues as a civil rights leader. He retired from CCSU (Central Connecticut State University) as a college administrator with Emeritus Status.

For over 40 years he worked in social services and higher education. During that time he assisted families in need and helped students acquire jobs. One of his greatest accomplishments was being the past President of CALAHE (Connecticut Association of Latinos in Higher Education) as well as being the creator and co-founder of CLAS (Congress of Latin American Students) which remains active to date.

Domingo enjoyed reading, writing, traveling, fishing, golfing and gardening, but what he cherished the most was his time with his family members located in Chile, Connecticut, and Florida. He is survived by his loving wife, Monica Tatiana Arias, his daughters Tatiana Arias O'Connor and Claudia Arias-Cirinna. His son-in-laws: Philip O'Connor and David Cirinna. He was predeceased by his daughter Monica Arias-Farfan. He is the beloved grandfather (Tata) to: Fernando, Francisco, Rory, Fiorella, Sofia and Rocco. He also loved his furry grandsons Teddy and Charlie.

He was a warrior, hero, protector and mentor. A man with character and principle. His love and passion for his family and community was unprecedented. He was courageous and brave and believed that the world could be better if action was taken. Never needed praise nor acknowledgement for the good deeds he performed.

A private ceremony and viewing with immediate family will take place at Branam Funeral Home Memorial Plan, 809 North Krome Avenue, Homestead, FL 33030.

BertitaUn hombre inteligente, de carácter, grandes valores, que nunca tranzo sus ideales libertarios y de justicia social. Ideales que le costaron el exilio a Estados Unidos, donde con su temple fue guía señero en orientar a estudiantes de la universidad donde el trabajo por muchos años. Un gran radical que ha viajado al valle de los justos. 🇨🇷

Elsa Paez Morales Domingo Arias (who died unexpectedly today) arrived at our home in December, 1977, straight out of the Arena in Chile, where he was being held as the activist head of the Teachers' Union. His wife Monica (an accountant) and his daughters Tatiana Arias (O'Connor) and Claudia Arias (Sirinna) would join him two years later, only after high level intervention from the Yale TB clinic with the Junta government. Domingo fit right in despite no English (and my poor French). Sam was born the same day. Domingo helped us wallpaper our first house on Emerson Street. A man of stunning character and principle, he built a successful career in college administration here from scratch. We enjoyed key events and celebrations with their family till the age when their parents' friends were no longer the hub of the children's social life. We've watched their girls grow into brighter lights than our own lights. But, Domingo (and Monica) will always be the young voices whose shouts for HOPE and JUSTICE carried them here, to New Haven, and into our hearts forever. Our love goes out to Monica, Tati and Claudia, grandchildren and to all whose lifeline has been steeled while Domingo walked among us.

Words from you granddaughter Sofia and grandson Rocco. Tata ❤️ "We have learned lots of stories about tata's past. All of his experiences in Chile and how he fought against the government. Ever since we were little, we have always looked up to him because of how brave he was and how much he went through. We remember when he had gotten cancer and we saw him with no hair. When he beat cancer, he became even more stronger because we knew cancer was a deadly thing. Tata has a certain scar on his arm that we always would ask about. He used to tell us that it was from a tiger and we completely believed it. In our eyes, he was this cool, brave, tiger fighting grandfather and it amazed us. Every time we went to the pool, he would wait in the garage and wave bye. It was always the little things he would do to make us laugh. For example, making monkey faces or singing funny songs. No matter what he has done or not done, he will always be the bravest and strongest person we know. It hurt us to see him sick in the hospital but we knew it was his time to go. He has struggled in life and worked so hard so we knew it was his time to finally rest. We all know he is playing the guitar up there or doing something crazy. He will always be one of our biggest role models and we could not have asked for a better grandfather. From his office chair and computer to his crocs that he wore everyday, he will always be apart of our lives even though he is not here. We know that he is with his family and daughter in heaven and is watching over us right now. May his strong, brave, and funny soul fly as high as it can. We love you so much Tata and know we will miss you forever." ❤️ -Rocco and Sofia.
